

Ash Lamp Stand

The lamp stand is made of ash, which is a flexible timber allowing itself to be bent into an elegant twisted form. The lamps are available in natural wood or black, finished with a matt-textured surface, which has a pleasantly tactile feel.

There is a large pebble suspended on a stainless steel wire which is both functional, in terms of aiding stability and also a little quirky - that said, it may also be removed. The electric flex is hidden inside one of the legs.
